New York, March 20 .- Mr. Charles A Dana publishes the following in to-day's Sun:
We have the honor to acknowledge the rece pt of the following official communication, which reached us on Monday:

"FORTY-SECOND CONGRESS, UNITED STATES, "House of Representatives, "Washington, D. C., March 16, 1872.

"Sir: I am instructed to notify you that, in oursuance of the terms of the inclosed reso lution, adopted by the House of Representa-tives on the 11th instant, the committed appointed in accordance therewith are now ready to receive any communication that you may desire to make in support of the charges appearing in the New York Sun, of which you are understood to be the responsible edor, against the Hon. George M. Robeson,

Secretary of the Navy.

The Committee will be glad either to have you appear before them and make any statements likely to lead to a full discovery of all the facts, or to receive information from you or any of your associates in any way most compaignt for work of the Committee way most convenient for you. The Commit-tee will be ready to subpena any witnesses you may name, and to give a full hearing of the entire case, and have for that purpose adjourned to Thursday next, the 21st inst., at ten o'clock A. M., from which time they de-sire to proceed with the investigation as fast as possible. I am, very respectfully, yours, "Henry H. Smith,

"HENRY H. SMITH,
"Clerk of Select Committee, etc."
Of course we shall appear before the Committee prepared to point out to them full and indisputable evidence respecting the frauds and robberies which we have charged against George M. Robeson. Respecting other transactions of the same nature and a very important question is, whether the Committee is organized to ascertain the truth and expose fraud, or merely to sophisticate and whitewash official villainy. This Committee consists of members named:

Governor Austin Blair, of Michigan, an upright, thorough-going statesman; the Hon. Aaron Sargent, of California, and the Hon. John A. Peters, of Maine, Republicans; with the Hon. Daniel W. Woorhees, of Indiana, and the Hon. Joseph M. Warren, of New York, Democrats. Con-sidering that the person accused is a Repub-lican Cabinet officer, and that if the Committee report him guilty they can not reasonably recommend anything less than his impeachment, it is evident that the investigation begins with a very strong po-litical bias in his favor on the part of the majority of his present Judges. In addition to this, all the varied influences of allegiance to party and political self-interest will, of course, be brought to bear, with every resource of management to secure his entire acquittal. Moreover, Mr. Sargent, of California, has peculiar reasons for personal devotion to Robeson. He has had a good deal to do with the Mare Island Navy-yard, in connection with some of Robeson's most remarkable exploits have Moreover, his confederates have millions of money at their command, and will use it freely to corrupt and buy off witnesses, so as to protect themselves against justice. Their frauds, however, are so numerous and so glaring, and each of them is known to such a number of responsibile persons whose tesalso decided that citizens are not responsible for coton destroyed by order of the Confederate military authorities.

A Washington special to the Induce Says fire on Sumter, the battle of Bull Run, Antietam, Gettysburgh, Stone River, Vicksburg, Wilmington, etc. General Grant remarked, with some emphasis and asperity, that Stone river was no victory—that a few such victories would have ruined the country, and he knew of no important results from it. The President said that perhaps he should not altogether agree with him, but whatever might be the facts, his singular dream preceded that fight. Victory did not always follow his dream, but the event and results were important. He had no doubt that a battle had taken place or was about being fought, "and Johnson will be beaten, for I had this strange dream again last night. THE believers in the old "balance of trade" theory of political economy, upon which protection is largely based, will be pleased to learn that last year the specie value of our imports exceeded the value of our exports nearly fifty-two millions of dollars. This in spite of heavy protection. We bought only fifty-two million dollars worth of goods more than we sold. And yet the country is not bankrupt, nor likely to become so.

THE difference in the weather now and at this time last year is conclusively shown by a dispatch from Chicago, dated yesterday, which says:

Last spring the straits of Mackinac opene and navigation between our upper and lower lakes was resumed on the 19th of March, or just one year ago to-day. The prospect nois that it will be at least a month before th straits will be open this spring. Last year at this time the farmers were sowing wheat now there are two or three feet of frost in the ground, and the weather is bleak and un comfortable. The Siaughter House Question.

The residents of the Fourth Ward, to the number of over seven hundred, who have petitioned against the continuation of the slaughter house north of the Water Works, certainly know whether it is a nuisance or not, and under what conditions they bought property in its vicinity. The counter-petition of Mr. Coffin is very place. The signers are not interested in the matter, except so far as the general business prosperity of the city is concerned, and in that the Fourth Warders are just as much interested. The nuisance question is between them and Mr. Coffin persons not affected have nothing to do with it. There is no doubt but that Mr. Coffin can build a slaughter house that kept almost as clean as an ordinary busihouse, but if he maintains hog pens near Let them convince the Council that no sional roses in a thicket of hog weed. pecuniary damage will result to Mr. The speech on a whole is incoherent, Coffin, and let them guarantee him a fair chaotic and aimless to a degree that we price for his property. The Attorney General's Oration.

portune flirt, the seed-hand is always turned back downwards as it is borne over the space defined by the legal boundaries of Indiana. Hoosier genius has vet to grow. Of Hoosier statesmanship, we have had enough: of Hoosier oratory, in its favorite development of the bar and the stump, we have had more than enough. Hoosier politicians are as the lice of Egypt, and Hoosier poetasters as her frogs, but where is the genius that shines through the windows and cracks of professional restriction, and glows abroad wide as the language spreads? We don't know. We know only of three attempts at such illumination, and they barely make "darkness visible." Probably we should present a better appearance in uniform dusk, than we do spotted faintly with three such tenuous and uncertain exhalations as D. W. Voorhees, Schuvler Colfax, and Bayless W. Hanna. They are the only men we have who have indulged a literary inclination unconnected with their occupations of practicing law and filling offices. Mr. Voorhees has several times appeared as the orator of college societies; Mr. Colfax has lectured on his journey "across the continent," and Mr. Hanna has occasionally figured in unprofessional displays of literary culture. A "worthy rival of this wondrous three" might be found in Mr. Fishback, of the Journal, if his modesty would permit him to give "room and verge enough" to the convulsive inspirations that sometimes shake such things out of him as the declaration, in Plymouth church, that Mrs. Stowe's novel had converted the world from toleration to destation of slavery; or to cultivate the ingenuity that appropriated the simile of a "locomotive whistle" from the correspondence of the Terre Haute Express to his speech at Grant's reception. But as he indulges no such inclination, happily, we are left to rejoice as we may in the radiance of the rest. Such as they are, Indiana has, then, three literary characters, one of whom made a display only so long ago as last Monday. We tried to hear Mr. Attorney General Hanna's speech to the Irishmen at the Genesis and Geology.

To the Editor of The Evening News: We listened last Sabbath evening to the talented minister of one of our city churches in a very able, ingenious and plausible, al-though, as we think, inconclusive effort to harmonize the Mosaic cosmogony with the ascertained facts of geology. It is a wonderful revolution that has taken place within the memory of middle-aged men, that of the conversion of the clergy from assailants of science as a device of the devil to earnest advocates and promulgators of its truths. loubt whether any very salutary results ac crue from the advocacy of theologians before unscientific audiences of the stirring facts in science. It is only those of genuine scientific training, who are able justly to weigh and appreciate such investigations. speaker prepared the way by showing that the word 'day' in the Mosiac account is frequently used in a cyclical rather than a definite sense. He did not explain, however, what idea was in the mind of Moses when he finished each of his days, or periods, with the expression, "and the evening and the morning was the first day," etc.; nor did he reconcile the idea of indefinite periods with the statement made in the same immediate connection, "and God called the light day, and the darkness called He night."

After thus getting over the difficulty as to the term "day," he went on to make the most of the faint coincidences between the mosaic and geological record, as to the order of time in creation.

The first creation of organized life, accord ing to Moses, is that of grass, herbs, plants and fruit trees. Now the geological record shows that long before the old Silurian beaches were upraised to afford a footing for vegetation other than marine plants, the universal ocean teemed with various lower forms of animal life.

Again there was a vast hiatus, accordin to geology, between the appearance of the lower forms of vegetation, lichens, ferns, etc., and the hard-woods to which the fruit trees belong; during which the animal creation had progressed through the molluscs, fishes and reptiles up to the birds.

The coincidence between Moses and geology, as to the general drift of evolution from the lower to the higher forms of life is far more easily accounted for, in general ways, upon the natural than the supernatura hypothesis. There are three formulas which would readily occur to any logical mind in attempting to construct a cosmogony First, that all things were instantaneously created; second, that creation proceeded from the simplest forms, through the more omplex up to the highest; and third, that the highest and most important forms were reated first, and that the more subordinate followed in regular declension. can be said that he has chosen the formula that is most in accordance with our daily observation and experience.

Again, it may be said that he obtained the outline facts of geological science from the Egyptains, who were the representatives of a high and very ancient civilization, and who have left the monuments of their knowledge of science, which were far older than Moses, and which still defy the influence of A STUDENT OF SCIENCE.

At daybreak, again they were on the way.

In the course of ten days, having travelled rapidly for ox teams, they reached the Little Blue River, a branch of the Big Blue. The women built fires and began the preparation of supper. oy and relief, they arrived at Fort Kearney. The emigrants did not half at the fort, but essed on to Kearney City, where they enamped just at nightfall.

Here Conductor Landford found another train, the guide of which had been stabbed the night before by a notorious man, who had escaped arrest. The train was offered to Landford, to be united with his own.

The assault that had been made upon the conductor of the previously arrived train was made a matter of discussion, and regret that his assailant had escaped was universal. "I know the fellow who dirked the conductor," said Landford. "He is a perfect demon. I know that he has killed several men. I saw him at Denver last year. He had just stabbed a miner from behind, and robbed him of all his money and gold. He called Blue Jack."

"Blue Jack!" cried one or two boys. 'What a name!'
"They call him so because one side of his face is blue, as if bruised," said Landford.

Two wagons belonged to men who had no woman with them. There were five of these desperadoes, and only the smallness of their number as compared with the others induced Landford to allow them to travel under his guidance and the protection of his train.

A few introductions took place, and then the long train took up its line of march west

"Fallon. Lieutenant Fallon," was the reply, and he offered to show his credentials. Landford bade Lieutent Fallon welcome, and offered him the freedom of the camp. Fallon ate supper with the Whitmans, and after conversing till a late hour, retired to the rear of the train to sleep. After all was still, he rolled over on the ground till he came to the side of Bark.

"Burk!" he hissed.
Burk started, with a smothered oath. "Who calls?" he growled.

"I and the boys have looked for you to join us all day," said Burk. "But of course we didn't look for you in this disguise." Upon the morning after the counterfeit Lieutenant Fallon had joined the wagon train, the camp was astir as usual at day-break. The train balted at noon on the river bank, opposite a lovely island. At sunset they again halted, and for the night. In the course of the evening Lieutenant Fallon approached Gay, and said:

"Miss Heber, I must say to you that you are startlingly like a former friend of mine. It seems almost as if she stood before me as I first knew her. It is a strange, a startling coincidence. I could all aost think—but no Impossible! You are the sister of Mr. Heber, are you not?"

THE Kentucky avenue sewer will probably be finished by Saturday night.

NEARLY $60,000 worth of transfers have been filed within the last twenty-four hours, in progress of investigation to-day, but not vet finished.

WHEN Anna Dickinson lectures here next week we trust she will deliver the lecture She contracts for.

THE sidewalks at the Palmer House corner are in a most shameful condition, and do not reflect much credit upon the city, in the eyes of strangers. THE Lenten service at St. Paul's Cathedral will be continued for three or four days through the kindness of Bishop Talbet. Service at 5.30 P. M.

DAN GREENFIELD, the new County Record. er, is converting his office into a fine art gallery, by embellishing the walls with numerour pictures and other ornaments.

THE sale of reserved seats for the Euterpean Concert on Monday night, commences at Benham's to-morrow morning. There is no extra charge for reserved seats. SERGEANT Wappenhans has returned from a visit to Kentucky refreshed and vigorous, and we shall now expect some decent weather. His absence explains recent troubles.

JOHN GALLAGHER was arrested yesterday for stealing a pair of pants from Nixon's dye house on the Canal, and this morning committed, in default of $200 bail, to the county jail.

A WEST WASHINGTON street merchant was fined in the city court this morning, for leaving a door leading from the sidewalk into his cellar open. There are several others, equally guilty, yet to be heard from.

THE skunk cases come up this afternoon in the City Court, A large number of witnesses have been summoned, which will entail a heavy expense upon the city. The matter has gone so far now, however that a discussion must be reacted, no matter at what cost.

A course of officers, including he of the fragile form, went out into Franklin township to afrest three youngsters for disturbing a religious meeting, but were prevented from securing two-thirds of their prey by the stalwart form of an infuriated female. They gave up the job in despair.

Wr don't see how any reasonable creature could disagree with Dr. Andrus, in his main conclusions in his discourse on fiction last Sunday, 1st, That vast quantities of fiction are worth reading, 2d, That some words are better than others, and that it is desirable for people of sense and taste to read the best as far as possible.

State Board of Agriculture. To-morrow morning the State Board of Agriculture meets in special session at the State House. Several members of the Board, including Jacob Mutz, of Johnson, and Herekish Caldwell, of Wabash, arrived in the city this morning, and others are expected this afternoon. The matter of selling the present State Fair grounds will be disposed of at this session probably.

The Nuisance Case.

The Starch Factory nuisance case progaged upon the evidence for the State, which there. will probably not be completed before noon to-morrow. About thirty witnesses have been already sworn, with a large number yet to hear from. The defense have a large number also to bring forward, so that it is possible the trial may run into next week.

Trying to Improve the City.

The Journal casts cold water on the real estate business, and tries to depreciate property in puffing its visionary coal road proect, that will sink the city in hopeless bankbankruptey sooner than any scheme yet devised. It says:

by Dr. Allen that so far as he is concerned please remember 42 South Illinois street, he has always intended the streets should be made there just as he promised, and that the trouble has been caused by misapprehension. He intends to do all that he has agreed to, and the street will be opened at once, as he told some of the complainants it would be. Several weeks since when he was absent from the city one of the lots was sold by Mr. Root by mistake, and on account of the delay in repurchasing the lot to acquire the title, the street has not been opened. As soon as the title is fixed it will be opened ... probably to-day. The Council, he claims has nothing in the world to do with the matter, as the streets were never platted and recorded. It is likely then that the difficulty will be satisfactorily adjusted without Transforming the Complexion.

The transformations produced by Hagan's Magnolia Balm are quite as astonishing as any scene on the stage of a theatre. That famous beautifier, transmutes a sallow, peeky-looking complexion, into ope in which the lilly and the rose vie for admiration, and imparts to a dry, harsh skin, the softness of perfect loveliness. Tap and freckles, which country air and simlight are pretty size to produce, in spite of parasols and sindowns, are completely obliterated by it: while it has a perfectly magical effect in handshing undue reduces. blotches and pimples from the skin. When the lady who has use it to remerly her complexional defects looks in the mirror, she is equally astounded and gratified at the improvements in her appearance. Every blemish has disappeared; her neck arms and cosom, now rival in whiteness the snowr colar which encircles her thoat, her cheek mantles with a peach-like bloom, and she is ready to invoke a blessing on the insensor of the article which has wrought such a delightful transformation. Yesterday in the British House of Com-mons Sir Charles Dilke moved for the returns showing the duties of an auditor who makes his report; copies of such reports for each year since the accession of Victoria; warrants issued by the treasury with specifi-cations of the classes in which savings arose and to which account these savings were transferred each year; also the returns showtransferred each year; also the returns showing the income and expenditures of the Crown from the Queen's accession to the present year; the amounts charged on estimates for fees and installations, for rebes, collars, badges, royal presents, the conveyance of distinguished personages, funerals of the royal family, expenses of coronation, journeys of the Queen, building and repairing palaces, court ceremonies, allowances to ing palaces, court ceremonies, allowances to Trumpters, Watermen, Marshals and Chamberlains, and for services of royal yachts for ten years, and finally the returns from the Duchies of Lancaster and Cornwall, and of the total amount paid the Princes of Wales. The motion was of course denied, only two voting in its favor.

The workmen in the mines of the Roths childs, at Wittkowitz, in Moravia, enraged at the non-payment of their wages, attacked the offices of the Superintendent. Gaining enterance there they opened the safe, appro-priating the contents, and then demolished the building. The soldiers were called out and hred on the rioters. Four were killed, fifty wounded and a hundred arrested. Or-der has been restored but the mines are guarded by the military.

"The Blood is the Life."

How many diseases have their seat in the blood—diseases which have been treated valuely for years In eight cases out of ten, if the blood alone properly purified, how soon will Health and Happiness return. The vaunted Alteratives, or Blood purifiers of the day, all contain Potash, Mercury, Arsenic, Iron etc., which, in time, undermine the strongest constitution.

CANCER-PLANT. This Plant is a never-falling cure for all Blood, Scrofulous, Cancerous and Syphilitic diseases. It thoroughly neutralizes the specific virus in the blood, which causes the affection. It thoroughly neutralizes the specific virus in the blood, which causes the affection. Therefore, it permanently cures all forms of Scaly, Scurvy, Blistery, Pimples, Ulcerative and Hery cutaneous Eruptions, as—Cancers, Nodes, Ulcers, Pusteles, Tetter, Fever-sores, Secondary Syphilis, Ringworm, Exzema, Eryslpelas, Scald-head Leprosy, Barber's 1tch, Impetiso, Scurvy, Prurigo, Salt Rheum, Psoriasis, Copper-colored Blotches, Grandular Swellings, Worms and Black Specks in the Flesh, Discolorations, or marks in the Skin, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth and Nose, Sore Legs, and sores of every conceivable character.

The Flant's the deadly enemy of Mercury, Lead and Arsenic—quickly eliminating them from the human system, and relieving the pains and sches attendant upon Mercurial and Syphilitic poisoning.

From a familiar knowledge of the composition of every Blood Medicine ever placed before the people, we warrant our Comp. Fluid Extract of Cancer Plant, to be the most powerful Alterative ever originated by man.

In truth, it seems that God, in his infinite wisdom, has designed this Herb above all others, for the cur of that vast list of malidies arising from impurity of the blood.

We have given the Cancer-Flant's to poor creatures who had suffered for years with the most frightful forms of Scrofula, Cancer and Syphilis, and within a few days the hideous sores have healed, the cancerous masses have withered away, and the skin had assumed a healthful appearance.
